

OPENING SPEECH: (Improving unilateral responses to providing relief following the Russian-Ukrainian armed conflict)

OPTIONAL: (Words are highlighted in this colour for intonation)

Honorable Chairs and Esteemed Delegates,

中方很高兴今天来到这里 - Zhōngguó hěn gāoxìng jīntiān lái dào zhèlǐ
The Delegation of the People's Republic of China is honored to be here today.

Today, we must feel compelled to collaborate and improve our unilateral responses to prevent the humanitarian crisis from escalating further. It is the great moral calling of our time.

The Delegation of the People's Republic of China is gravely concerned, mainly for the significant civilian and military casualties by both Russian and Ukrainian forces. Following the Russian-Ukrainian war, dialogue, negotiation and diplomacy are more important than ever. It is our duty to advocate for a peaceful resolution through diplomatic means.

China is also a neutral friend to both sides, and therefore in an ideal position to facilitate the diplomacy this conflict is desperately in need of. In addition, our great nation is the bearer of the world's second largest economy and would like to humbly extend its vast resources to heal the wounds of this war.

Ultimately, the People's Republic of China is present today to encourage vital relief efforts and address the devastating humanitarian crisis caused by the armed conflict. These efforts include:

- Humanitarian aid
- Support for Displaced people
- Protection of education and child welfare
- Addressing other critical needs
